

Millicent North

Year of Call: 2023

Millicent is currently undertaking a Personal Injury, Clinical Negligence, Costs & Employment pupillage under the supervision of Elahe Youshani.

During her first six, she has observed a diverse range of work across the scope of civil law including personal injury, inquests, Court of Protection, employment and costs matters. She has observed work for both Claimants and Defendants and has had the benefit of a busy first six. She has had a particular focus on cases involving serious injuries and has observed cases pleaded over £1 million at CCMC.

Before beginning pupillage, Millicent worked as a County Court Advocate and conducted small claims trials, OIC hearings, interlocutory applications and property hearings. She also drafted written advices on quantum for approval in infant settlements.

Millicent completed her undergraduate education at the University of Nottingham and Universität Wien. She won the University of Nottingham Moot Competition in her second year and represented the Universität Wien in the International Roman Law Moot. She subsequently received a scholarship to study the Bar Course at the Inns of Court College of Advocacy, where she received Distinctions in Opinion Writing and Drafting.

She will be accepting instructions from 3 March 2025.